Between Us

Our young people who are serving in the different branches of the service are having various experiences and all seem to be enjoying their work. Alene Whitehead, who is in the Red Cross corps, recently spent two weeks in Richmond, Va., has now transferred to New York, and had quite a thrilling experience last week after being in New York only a few days. It seems that the young English soldiers were in New York and needed an escort to show them the town. Alene was given this assignment and she has written and told of the many funny things that happened during her assignment. She had stay in the line and she was at the head of the line taking them to all the main places of interest, Radio City, Wall Street, and the larger buildings on the subway, buses and out for a meal. Imagine her surprise when they started to get on the subway and she found out that they were British cons. She had to wait and get her money in small pieces so they could pay as they entered. She said they were a fine group of young men and very enthusiastic over their impressions of New York. It was quite a thrill in experience to her. She spoke of the people stopping as they were hurrying along to see just what it was all about. Alene is waiting for foreign service and is looking forward to her work across when they send her. Graduation gifts are coming in almost every day to the seniors now, and Lene Stephens received a lovely diamond ring from her mother and a lovely watch from her grandmother. Carolyn Brannen has already received a big diamond from her parents. The seniors are finishing up this week and getting ready to get those caps and gowns for their last high school days. —One Mothers' Day gift that came from England was an ordinary V-mail letter from Dub Lovett to his mother. When she opened it there was an exact likeness of Dub draped at the top in pencil and a lovely picture of his mother that had been copied from a small photograph he had taken. The only writing was "Mothers' Day greetings." Speaking of pictures, a beautiful picture of Carmen Coward appeared with the Chicago Tribune recently. Carmen's was the prettiest of the group and showed her feeding the swan in the lake at Breau. —When Margaret Remington and Gene L. Hodges were married last week, Margaret had a family heirloom which she cherishes very much. When Margaret's great-grandmother Remington was young she kept silver coins and spoons were made from them. Margaret received her Sunday. Another gift which each girl is to receive as the marriage is a lovely hand-crocheted tablecloth given her by aunt, Mattie Akins. —WILL see you AROUND TOWN.

REMINGTON-HODGES

Miss Margaret Remington and Sgt. Gene L. Hodges were married in a beautiful ceremony which took place Sunday afternoon, May 9, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Remington, on College street. The open fireplace and mantel were banked with ferns to form a background for floor baskets filled with white gladioli and daisies and candelabra holding white wedding tapers. The ring ceremony was used, with Dr. Rufus Hodges officiating in the presence of the two families and close friends of the bride and groom. Miss Kathryn Hodges, dressed in pink jersey with a corsage of pink roses, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Remington, in blue jersey with yellow roses, sisters of the groom, lighted the candles. A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Verdie Hilliard, and Mrs. Waldo Floyd sang "Because" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Miss Dot Remington served as her sister's maid of honor and was lovely in rose jersey with a corsage of gardenias. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was modestly attired in a green two-piece dress with brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of purple orchids. For traveling she wore a tan suit with brown accessories and her wedding flowers. Sgt. Hodges had as his best man his brother, Wilbur Hodges, of Savannah. Mrs. C. H. Remington, mother of the bride, wore blue crepe with a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. G. W. Hodges, the groom's mother, was dressed in black and her flowers were pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Remington entertained with an informal reception immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table was beautifully appointed, being overlaid with a hand-crocheted cloth over white satin and centered with the three-tiered wedding cake which was surrounded by swansonia, daisies and ferns, and topped with a miniature bride and groom. White tapers in silver candelabra were used on either end. Bride's roses in silver bowls and white candles were used elsewhere in the room. An ice course was served by Miss Mary Sue Akins, Miss Liz Smith, Mrs. Martin Gates, Mrs. Buford Knight, Mrs. Bill Keith, and punch was served on the porch by Misses Joyce Anderson, Ann Remington, Virginia Lee Floyd and Ann Waters.

Eastern Sara Remington, of Jacksonville, sister of the bride, kept the bride's book. Others assisting Mr. and Mrs. Remington with entertaining were Mrs. Fred Darby, of Jacksonville, and Mrs. Bruce Akins and Mrs. E. L. Poindexter. Sgt. Hodges is a graduate of the Statesboro High School, attended Georgia Teachers College, and graduated from Draughon's School of Commerce in Atlanta. She previously held a position with the revenue department in Atlanta. At present she is employed by the Reynolds-Manley Lumber Company in Savannah. Sgt. Hodges, son of Mrs. G. W. Hodges and the late Mr. Hodges, was graduated from Statesboro High School and attended Teachers College. As a member of the AA division of the 214th Coast Artillery he spent several months in the South Pacific, recently returning to the states to attend officers' candidate training school at Camp Davis, N. C. After a short wedding trip Sgt. and Mrs. Hodges will visit with their families here until May 24th.

Topping the vaudeville presentations will be a Victory contest in which members of the audience may have the opportunity of walking away with a 1943 Packard convertible, or a blue coupon entitling the bearer to purchase a $1,000 war bond.

Small prizes will be given away in the nickle candy that will be sold in surprise packages during the show. Harold Waters, president of the Bachelors Club, requests that all patrons attend the show in evening dress and bedroom slippers. He also states that an overcoat will not be necessary, as the college auditorium is steam-heated and covered for protection in case of rain.

The second part of the show will feature the colossal minstrel show with a laugh every second and a cry every third. It will be a show that will be worth twice the money, but folks who care to come will be allowed admission at half fare. Mr. Beasley is today in Statesboro, having come to attend the family celebration of the birthday of his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Beasley, who yesterday was 85 years old. Born in that section of Bulloch county known as the Laston district, Mr. Beasley is 62 years of age. He left Bulloch in 1903, since which time he has been in business in Mississippi and Louisiana.

Friends of the long-ago years, as well as those who may have kept in contact with him through his occasional visits, are interested to learn that W. E. Beasley is the newly appointed postmaster at Biloxi, Miss., having been recommended for appointment by the congressman from that district, W. M. Colmer, of Pascagoula.

LABOR PROBLEMS HAVE ATTENTION

County Agents To Help Farmers In Obtaining Labor Where Possible. County agricultural agents of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service have been designated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to aid Georgia farmers in obtaining labor for growing and harvesting war crops. Walter S. Brown, state extension service director, said today. Brown said that local agents will also assist farmers in making the best possible use of present labor and equipment as well as helping them with new workers.

There are many ways in which farmers can make their present labor supply go further, the extension director pointed out. "As labor becomes critically short," he said, "these take on added importance and farmers are urged to take advantage of every way of saving labor and making it more productive."

The agents will offer suggestions for saving labor by adjusting crops and livestock to keep labor fully employed, exchanging labor, sharing equipment, and other farm management changes, Brown explained.

In Bulloch county Byron Dyer, local county extension agent, said that plans are under way to organize volunteer city workers to help on farms during rush seasons. He explained that full information on how city people can contribute to the war effort and help relieve the serious labor shortage in this county will be announced soon.

Victory News On All Battlefronts

Pinned down on the plains and against the hills of northern Tunisia, the last remnants of the Axis armies in North Africa collapsed with stunning suddenness on May 12. The coup de grace was delivered after the ragged Afrika Korps and Italian satellite troops were split into segments, with the larger isolated on Cap Bon and the smaller surrounded in the Zeghouan area farther west.

Surrender of both groups followed execution of a brilliant maneuver by the British Eighth Army from the South Tunisian front to the sector west of Tunisia where they joined the British First Army. The combined forces swept swiftly across the base of Cap Bon, cutting the Axis forces in two. Patrols made a complete circuit of the peninsula and troops of the Sixth Armored Division, pressed down from the north, effected a junction with the Eighth Army north of Enfidaville.

At the same time, French Troops before Zeghouan and Ste. Marie Du Zit kept up their attacks and on May 12 enemy resistance in this area collapsed. General Von Arnim, commander in chief of the Axis forces in North Africa, was captured at Ste. Marie Du Zit, along with 22,000 of his troops in the area. Von Arnim was captured without a fight, but refused to sign terms of unconditional surrender.

No Dunkerque Possible

Early in the week it became apparent it would be impossible for Von Arnim to stage a Dunkerque. For three days before the surrender large forces of heavy and medium bombers, escorted by fighter planes, swept across Cap Bon and the surrounding waters. To prevent the bringing up of either reinforcements or evacuation transports, the blockade of the Axis armies was completed by naval forces off Cap Bon.

In all, 156,000 Axis troops were captured in Tunisia. Masses of equipment also fell into Allied hands.

Clashes in New Guinea

From General MacArthur's headquarters came word that while bad weather restricted air activity in the New Guinea theater of action, three patrol clashes had taken place on the jungle trails between Salamaua and Mubo.

During the week the navy reported that an American submarine had torpedoed two Japanese vessels in six attacks. In the course of accumulating its bag the submarine missed one ship at which it fired, later however it got two ships with one salvo.

Hears From Home Through The Times

Post Headquarters, APO 864, care Postmaster New York, May 14, 1943.

Dear Mr. Turner:

A fiftieth anniversary is not attained by everyone, and is something that one would be proud of. May 1 be among many to congratulate you on this occasion. It is also my aspiration to celebrate my Golden Jubilee some day in the far future.

Speaking of the future, it is beginning to look much brighter. From the news things are shaping up very nicely. We are contributing our little bit up here, and hope to return home soon (to Georgia), which would please me very much.

About 864, can't say very much—censorship, as you know. We have a nice place. Everyone is comfortable and enjoys doing his bit for the war effort. For entertainment we have a theatre, bowling alley, pool tables, ping-pong tables and a nice library. Baseball season is approaching, so we are preparing for that; expect to have about six each softball and hardball teams.

Fishing is quite an industry and sport up here. Salmon and trout are plentiful. Fresh salmon is nothing to compare with the canned salmon, it is very delicious. Lobsters are plentiful too; we had fresh ones right out of the ocean yesterday, and were they good!

Sure do enjoy getting the Times; it is usually a week late, but is always received with a big welcome. It is my only means of news from Statesboro. When father writes, he always says, "I won't include the local news; just read the Times." and I do.

Expect to get a few days' leave in July or August, so I will get a chance to visit in Statesboro. Am looking forward to it very much.

Sincerely,
SLATON RUSHING.

PAY IN ADVANCE TO GET LOWER RATES

Rural Power Line Will Go On Annual Plan As Measure Of Economy

After trying out the annual service plan for a year in the West Side, Bulloch county community, the board of directors of the Escalator Electric Co-operative, with headquarters at Metter, voted at their last regular monthly meeting to offer this plan to all members of the co-operative, beginning September 20, according to Cleo E. Miles, superintendent.

Outstanding features of the annual plan of distributing and collecting for electric service is that the members pay a year's bill in advance; for a certain amount of electricity the co-operative gives him some kilowatts as a bonus, and the amount paid for and given away can be used any time during the year. At the end of the year those members who have used more than they contracted for will pay a predetermined amount per kilowatt for the excess.

The plan eliminates the monthly system of reading meters and billing each member each month. It does away with penalties. Not only does the annual plan save the member time, money and travel, but it saves the REA Co-operative's office time, expense and travel.

Twenty-six of the co-operatives in the West Side community started on this plan on March 20, 1942. On March 20, 1943, one year later, the members were read, and all members contacted said they were well pleased and preferred this annual way to the old monthly card system.

Between now and September 20, all members of the co-operative will be contacted, and those who want to go annual will have a chance to do so in September. Further information about the plan can be secured from Supt. Cleo E. Miles at the office in Metter, or from any member of the board of directors.

Temple Hill Church Has Home-Coming

One of the most pleasant days in the memory of this writer was spent at Temple Hill church on Sunday, May 16th, at home-coming day and flag service. Services began shortly after 11:00 o'clock, with the congregation singing, "All Hail the Power."

This was followed by a very fitting devotional, led by Mr. Oglesby. The invocation was given by Mr. Morris. After this the morning was devoted to a welcome by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Cannon, followed by responses from the homefolks that had come back for the day. The song service was given over to Mr. Morris, his quartet from Savannah, with Mr. Bailey and other leaders assembling.

We were glad to have Dr. A. J. Mooney through the entire day, and after dinner, with only a few words from Mr. Oglesby, he made a very interesting and instructive talk that everyone enjoyed. Later on Dave Turner held the audience with wit and humor as well as logic. He took us back to pioneer days when children were taken, not sent, to church, and pictured how easy it is to get to church now compared to the pioneer days.

At intervals Marion Carpenter, from the music department, Statesboro High School, assisted by the boys' quartet, rendered patriotic and other selections that were enjoyed by everyone, and the closing hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," was given by them.

When we began to plan our program for flag dedication, the idea uppermost in our minds was to make every minute pleasant for those that were honor guests—the parents of service men; but when the day was over, we felt as if they had made the day pleasant for others, so great was the response.

We will display the flag at Middleground school on special occasions, and later will complete the service roll with the address of each service man. Should anyone wish the address of any one of the boys, consult with the secretary-treasurer of WMS, Miss Ouida Tankersley. If we don't have it, we'll get it.

SOIL CONSERVATION

(By W. T. SMALLEY)

J. W. Donaldson, who lives in the Register community, established fifteen acres of permanent pasture this spring of which he is justly proud. Mr. Donaldson, in co-operation with the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District, first selected land on which a permanent pasture could be developed. He then cleared the land of everything but a few scattered desirable pine trees, prepared a good seed bed, applied fertilizer and seed as recommended by the district. The land was prepared and the fertilizer applied in February and the seed was sown the first of March. Mr. Donaldson did a good job all the way through and has a good stand of Dallas grass, white Dutch clover and lespedeza.

Two very important management practices in the development of a permanent pasture being carried out by Mr. Donaldson are keeping weeds and bushes cut and control grazing. Let us remember that pastures furnish the cheapest feed for livestock and also protect the soil against erosion.

A good soil conserving practice being carried out by Mr. Donaldson is the hogging off of mature oaks. This practice is being carried out by more Bulloch county farmers each year.

High Cost of Living

THE PROBLEM of how to get born and stay born seems to be more and more perplexing.

Time was when a marriage license could be bought for a dollar and a half, carrying with it the full right to raise a family. An old-time family sometimes average around twelve youngsters, thus, dividing the cost by twelve meant a first cost of 12½ cents per child. That was in the old days, and, as we recall, quite a good many more or less worthwhile citizens came into the world under that program.

With modern society getting more or less high-brow, the number permissible under each marriage license gradually, divided down to about two to the family, which bounced the license cost to seventy-five cents, and on top of that the license people—in the name of some sort of reform—shot the cost of marriage licenses up to $4 in Georgia. A total first cost, as you see, of $2 per child even before you get started in life.

Even at that cost life wouldn't have been so exorbitant if the modern hospitals hadn't come along seeking for patronage, and then skilled surgeons began levying a birth tax according to an imaginary bank account until only the most daring or the most foolish would even contemplate a family.

What with all these handicaps, the family circle was threatened with destruction until there came along the war and draft, and then the great expediency of youngsters as exemptions! It began to look like olden times when you read the birth column—"Mr. and Mrs. S-and-So Announce," etc.

Not satisfied with all that, there has been tacked on the added tax of proving one's continued existence and right to live. Delayed birth certificates have come to be an essential document. If you can't prove where and when and why, you are almost led to doubt your own existence. Whether you doubt or not, the world legally denies, until you come along with sworn papers bearing testimony to that fact. This, it is now reported, will cost around $4 each.

Even with all that, however, life is right pleasing to most of us.

Pigs At Home-Coming

BECAUSE of no special reason except that the members of that church and community have been our friends for a long while—some of them for at least a half century—the editor was invited to attend a home-coming at Temple Hill church last Sunday afternoon.

There had been a friendly program in the morning followed by dinner at the church. You will understand, then, why there was a large crowd of present when we arrived. Because the church yard was jammed with conveyances, we found it necessary to park in the road and walk up the hill to the church. Before we reached the crowd milling about, and before we heard even the friendly voices of those who had invited us, there came scrambling toward us the most home-like representative of the rural church—a three-day-old pig. Came straight toward us, head lifted, and a soft, friendly, inquiring voice gave us welcome. What did he mean by those words. Somehow we suspected his motives were more or less selfish—that he had probably been lost from the other members of his immediate household, and that he was himself seeking a reunion. The youngster sniffed at our feet, uttered another soft sound and sort of rocked away. He seemed sort of dazed and was vabbed from here to there. We watched the youngster in a sort of reminiscent mood, because it brought back memories of another rural church.

Inside the church there sat old friends and young friends; cheerful, smiling, cordial. The presiding officer was making his introduction, and there still came to our ears the faint voice of the youngster outside the door. Then there was a distant "Guff, guff," and we recognized that voice of the head of that youngster's family returning to the home-nest under the edge of the church. There were other faint voices, making response, and we knew there was a happy family get-together in immediate prospect. The introducer lifted his voice, but we heard a dull thud, and knew the mother sow was on the ground; we heard soft squeaks in unison, then a systematic "Uh-uh-uh" as we realized that dinner was being served right under the window of the church.

There were men in the church whom we had known for fifty years, but they were not our oldest memory. The mother sow and her brood under the window carried us back to the little log building by "The Lake," used as a church, a school house and a community center. Every Sabbath as the preacher stood in his pulpit and talked about Lazarus and Jonah, and the swine that were driven into the sea because they were possessed of devils, at little brown-and-white spotted sow came and lay down back of the church and her family had a home-coming. Please creep up through the cracks of the floor and communed with us, and gave us relief as they broke the monotony of the long sermon which was the vogue of that day.

We had been invited to Temple Hill to speak to the people on "The Importance of the Rural Church." We almost forgot our subject as we listened to the swine family under the window as we were being introduced. "Yankee Doodle Dandy" started at 2:30, 4:55 and 9:30. No advance in price.

The Battle Continues

IF YOU FOLLOW the verbal battle which continues sort of sporadically between these extreme elements classified as the "nigger-lovers" and "nigger-haters" in Georgia, you might get the impression that Georgians are about to tear each other into shreds over the race question. If you get that idea, you do so without giving thought to that overwhelming element of Georgians who refuse to get in a lather about an issue which does not exist.

There is, for instance, designated loosely as the "nigger-loving group," that interracial organization which insists on pouring fuel on the dying embers by insistence that white people in Georgia shall recognize the colored people of Georgia as in every way equal, and not only tolerate but encourage intimate mixing of the races. One of these in recent weeks has suggested that all white Georgians shall encourage race equality by attending persistently those assemblies in which negroes are present and by deliberately finding seats among negroes, and to that extent bringing about the ultimate equality which such practice would be supposed to induce.

And this suggestion then brings forth a frothing at the mouth by Georgia's recently defeated self-designated leader of white supremacy and negro suppression. As if he had reason to fear that without his frothings Georgians were in danger of going to the depths from which he assumes to deliver them!

And while this sham battle rages—battle in which over-zealous reformers are wasting their little energies on the one side while little demagogues on the other demand the right to carry the spotless flag of white supremacy—the mass of Georgians continue their course unmoved. The dispute ought to be adjusted with a simple agreement that those white persons who want to sit with negroes may be permitted to do so—if the negroes will tolerate them; or that those who prefer to sit aloof, and even not to sit at all, can exercise their own choice. In the meantime, there are mighty few negroes in Georgia, and mighty few white people, who are in the least interested in bringing about this intimate association.

FLAT ROCK'S BOND BUYING DRIVE WAS A BIG SUCCESS

flat rock went over the top in the war bond drive. It was handled by this carry spondent, holsum moore subscribed for 2 bonds, but the check he gave miss jennie veeve smith bounced back and art square had to take over.

rev. will wait bought c50 worth of war stamps. that is pretty good for him when you consider that his congregation owes him six months back salary and the special collection was sent to the furin mission board by slim chance jr. instid of cumming to him. our mission-erry has returned home from mexico.

dr. hubbert green (our only tycoon), bought bonds very heavy. he taken 2 18758 bonds and offered to double that if tom head would pay $5 worth of stamps. tom head has not had $5 since he got out of the hos-pittle last fall.

the mayor left town enduring the drive and remained away until after it was over. he has kindly offered to buy a bond when the third drive comes up in november. the poleseman will buy some securities as soon as 1943 taxes are collected. he gets a commission on delinquents.

the day of the main drive was a festive occasion. miss jennie veeve smith danced the hotohy-kotohy on the grand stand in front of the drug store. she also sung several quarts and solos. dude skinner played the mouth-organ a right smart, and there were other fine entertainments going on all of the time. secker-terry mortgenhaus has been notified of our success.

FLAT ROCK HAS A NEW ENTERPRISE IN THE MAKING
hon. claudie wickert, secker-terry of agger-culture, washington, d. c.

as i have rote you befor, i will rite you again. here is hoping they won't have you out of authority be' fear you ancer me back, changes are made fast in washington. if a feller does anything fast or rite, off his head goes.

messrs. holsum moore and art square are forming a duck industry. they will go into the duck-egg business in a big way. they will each put in 50¢ and make the capitol stock 100¢, paid in full.

befor going any further with their plans, they want you to rite or foam them and let them know if ducks is or will be rationed. also will duck eggs be on the priority list? if they sell duck feathers, will they have to get anny cuppons to do so with?

these gentlemen have figgered on buying 100 ducks, most of which will be layers and seckers. each duck is expected to lay 100 eggs each. 18 eggs will be saved for hatching. 87 eggs at c5 each will fetch 435¢. ducks makes good eating also.

after the ducks have laid their selves out and hatched 13 ducklings each, the old ducks will be sold in the open market at 1.45¢. the ducks that will be kept will be picked clean of feathers, each duck giving up 2 pounds of feathers, this will net the cooperators 3,000¢ per year all tolled.

THE AGRICULTURE BLUES IN "C" MINOR
I have a case of congested lung today. First, it's either so dry or so wet i can't plant cotton. Second, it's raining off and on for a week or so, and being a farmer i'm getting uneasy. It stops raining every year in time for us to plant and sow, reap and hoe, but this looks like a different condition. But by the time i get ready to plow, the ground is too hard.

The rest-pause that refreshes

Welcome in peace... more welcome in war work

ASK plant managers what a rest-pause means to workers in war production . . . more work-contentment. And contentment increases output. Add refreshment to a rest-pause and the feeling of contentment is increased. That's a reason why you find ice-cold Coca-Cola so welcome in war plants.

Ice-cold Coca-Cola goes beyond just quenching thirst to bring you refreshment. Its delicious goodness always delights your taste. Here is a drink made with a finished art, quality you count on. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Where We Can't Build We Will Help Others

THROUGH the joint efforts of business and government, rural electrification has been brought to 117,000 customers within the territory served by this company before the war checked the rapid progress in building new rural lines. Of this total, 61,000 rural customers are served by the Georgia Power Company, and 56,000 by REA cooperatives.

Instead of opposing the REA, we have from the beginning supported the government's program of extending electric service to Georgia farms.

In 1936, when the REA plan was first being offered, this company published in the newspapers a statement of policy: "WHERE WE CANNOT BUILD, WE WILL HELP OTHERS TO BUILD". In our desire to see electric service made available to as many Georgia farmers as possible, we outlined a specific program of assistance to the REA cooperatives.

Among other things, we offered to make preliminary surveys for the REA systems. The services of our experienced rural engineers were made available without charge.

We offered to supply power at low wholesale rates to all co-operatives desiring our service.

We even offered to give up construction of certain rural lines we had intended to build, provided those lines were needed to make REA projects workable.

During the past seven years we have faithfully followed this policy. We have made good our offer of assistance. For an electrified Georgia—we have helped others to build where we ourselves could not build.
